City of New Orleans
Mayor LaToya Cantrell

Dear Friends,

It is my absolute pleasure as the Mayor of the City of New Orleans to welcome you to the 2018 “Christmas New Orleans Style,” a month-long holiday celebration of all things New Orleans including live, local music; world-famous cuisine; special shopping experiences; and uniquely New Orleans traditions.

Christmas New Orleans Style is one of our City’s signature events, with something for everyone. Renowned artists perform free concerts at historic St. Louis Cathedral and St. Augustine Church; Celebration in the Oaks fills City Park with joy and laughter; NOLA ChristmasFest delights with ice skating and family fun; and candlelight caroling in Jackson Square brings the community together.

As we celebrate our city’s 300th birthday, our tricentennial, our joie de vivre is evident during the Krewe of Jingle and Joan of Arc parades, and legendary chefs serve Réveillon, a centuries-old French holiday dining tradition.

There is rarely a “silent night” in New Orleans. Follow the trumpet music to Bourbon, Frenchmen, and Fulton streets for authentic New Orleans music. Celebrate the New Year with us, and stay to cheer Sugar Bowl competitors at the Superdome.

It is a pleasure to wish you a happy holiday season and a wonderful New Year. The energy of our city is unmatched and the magic unparalleled. We invite you to experience every moment of it.

Sincerely,

LaToya Cantrell
Mayor
City of New Orleans

REVEILLON is a feast celebrated throughout the Francophone world. Derived from the French word "waking," Reveillon menus were comprised of exceptionally lavish foods historically served at midnight on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. Today, Reveillon is celebrated nightly during the Christmas Season in New Orleans' finest restaurants.

REVEILLON Pronounced 'rě-vē-ōn (HINT: THE 'L'S ARE SILENT!)

In the late 1800s and the first decade or so of the 20th century, New Orleans' Creole families celebrated Reveillon (derived from the French word reveiller, which means "to awaken") twice during the holidays. The first Reveillon came after Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, when families returned from St. Louis Cathedral to break a daylong fast. This meal typically consisted of egg dishes, sweetbreads, and Creole specialties, such as daube glacé. It often ended with a cake filled with a fruit confection, dripping with wine or rum, and topped with whipped cream.

New Year's Eve brought another Reveillon, usually shared among several families. This more elaborate meal featured eggnog, fancy pastries, meringues, sugar sculptures, and crystallized fruits. By late afternoon, families would return home to a light supper followed by a night of singing and dancing—with wine and whiskey for the gentlemen and cordials and liqueurs for the ladies.

Today's Reveillon is celebrated throughout the Christmas season in restaurants throughout the City. Menus combine ageless Creole cuisine with more contemporary New Orleans dishes, but the spirit of the past remains. In fact, some of our Reveillon restaurants—Antoine's, Commander's Palace, Galatoire's, and Tujague's—are more than 100 years old! Revel in nostalgia and join us for Reveillon—the authentic taste of Christmas New Orleans Style!

Types of reveillon menus offered:

Reveillon Traditional

A rich, special occasion menu created in the style of, and inspired by, the tastes of the original Creoles

Reveillon Contemporary

A rich, special occasion menu utilizing preparation techniques and products of the modern day not necessarily available to the original Creoles

B'Reveillon

Brunch based on the Reveillon celebration

Petite Reveillon

A four course small plates option for guests who would like to experience a Reveillon meal on a smaller scale

Reveillon on the Rocks

Classic and original cocktails that celebrate Reveillon one-sip-at-a-time

Menus subject to change based on seasonal ingredient availability

One Time, in New Orleans

Women stormed a bar meant just for men.

Until 1949, women were only allowed in the Roosevelt Hotel's renowned Sazerac Bar on Mardi Gras Day. Thankfully, this changed one September afternoon when owner Seymour Weiss opened his doors to a group of women who demanded the right to a stiff drink whenever they felt like it. The "Storming of the Sazerac" continues to be celebrated – fancy hats and all – every September, now at The Roosevelt New Orleans, A Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

Come celebrate with us this holiday season and start your story with #OneTimeInNOLA.

PAPA NOËL

One Time in New Orleans

Men in drag made Mardi Gras their own.

The early days of Mardi Gras were far from inclusive. Membership to krewes and balls was reserved for straight white men. Everyone else was forced to celebrate in secret or risk arrest.

In the late 1950s, a group of gay men defied the status quo and formed the Krewe of Yuga.

Their first ball was predictably raided. Undeterred, they reorganized and partied on. Though Yuga is now gone, ten gay krewes carry on its legacy, including the Krewe of Armeinius which celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2018. Tickets are available for members and tourists alike.

One Time, in New Orleans

Bo pulled Shorty on stage.

From a young age, Trombone Shorty has been inseparable from his horn. So when his mother, Lois, brought him to see Bo Diddley at Jazz Fest, he took it with him and played along with the legendary bluesman from the crowd. Diddley took notice and had the crowd pass the 4-year-old boy and his horn to the stage. He blew everyone away.

Today, Trombone Shorty closes out the final day of Jazz Fest himself, and other members of his talented family (The Andrews) split time between their hometown and touring the world.

Come celebrate with us this holiday season and start your story with #OneTimeInNOLA.
